I believe everything in this world is designed. Thus, a designer plays a significant role in building a beautiful world. To do that, the responsibility of a designer is to create great products that are not only aesthetic but also able to improve many aspects of people's lives. Each creation should be an integration of profound knowledge of art and a deep understanding of users. It requires an iterative exploration of human behavior and psychology and applying insightful findings to designs. Therefore, a designer should have a strong passion to be motivated in the long journey of beautifying the world.
